Stock Market Fulfils Promise of a Much Wider Speculative Interest.

was contained in the sudden revival on Saturday. The effect of the rapid advance in prices at the end of the week laws to bring in a large increase of orders for stocks to-day which were executed in the market with many symptoms of speculative excitement. The volume of market was run up by neon to half a million shares, thus rather exceeding the recent average for a full day's business.

Buil orders were responsible for the up-shoot of prices, first quotations in United States Steel and Union Pacific being wide, or at simultaneous price varying a fraction. Foreign markets contributed the influence of the settlement of the dispute between Austria and Servia reported in the morning dispatches. This relieved the London and the European markets from quite a weight of depression, and combined with the brightened money outlook to stimulate a speculative revival abroad. The speculative interests contained to lay much stress on the early return to the financial district intended by E. H. Harriman and the conferences which have taken place between that gentleman and President James J. Hill, of the Great Northern. The Pacific stocks were prominent features of strength.

Another factor in the strength of the market was the news from Washington concerning efforts to expedite the passage of the tariff bill.

Bonds were firm; total sales, par value, $5,798,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.
